

我讲普通话

Wǒ jiǎng pǔtōnghuà

DO YOU KNOW?

- There are many hundreds of Mandarin dialects.
- Chinese sentence starts with a topic and following it by a comment.
- Chinese does not have tense.
- Each syllable in isolation in Chinese (e.g. ma) has its tone, and the same syllables with different tones can mean different things.
- In Chinese, people do not use “double” or “triple” when they talk about their phone number. They just say each individual digit of the number, i.e. jiǔ-sān-èr-èr yāo-bā-bā-bā (9322 1888).

USEFUL PHRASES

你好吗?
Nǐ hǎo ma?
How are you?

你叫什么名字?
Nǐ jiào shénme míngzi?
What is your name?

谢谢!
Xièxie
Thank you!

不客气!
Bú kèqì!
You're welcome!

再见!
Zàijiàn!
Goodbye!

Learn a new language and get a new soul

-Czech Proverb